1 Smart Move, 3 Distinct Options

Get 2x, 6x or more for your money. Or, if you change your mind, you can choose to get your money back.*

1

Your Care is Covered.

On average up to 6 times or more for your premium!

If you have a long term care (LTC) event, TLC leverages your initial premium up to six times or more, to pay for covered long term care expenses.

2

Your Life is Covered.

On average up to 2 times or more for your premium!

If you don't need LTC benefits, because TLC is universal life insurance, it pays an income tax-free death benefit to your beneficiary, which is usually two times your initial premium.

3

Your Decision is Covered.

No-regrets!

If you have a change in plans and decide not to keep the TLC policy before the end of the 15th year, you will get back at least your initial premium (less any LTC benefits already received).*

*To receive this benefit, you must select the optional Return of Premium Rider (ROP), which requires a higher initial premium and is available only when you are applying for TLC.

Case Study: How TLC Works

Meet Helen

Helen is in good health, has been married for 30 years and she and her husband have two children. After 25 years as a plastic surgeon, she retired last year. She has over $300,000 of available assets.

Helen may face one of these four situations. With the coverage and protection of TLC, Helen was better prepared for all four scenarios.

What if...

Helen had a long term care (LTC) event.

Helen purchased a TLC policy at age 60 and was able to leverage her $100,000 initial premium more than 7 times for a total of $714,876 in total long term care benefits. Helen has up to $9,929 each month to pay for covered LTC expenses for 6 years (longer if monthly maximum is not used up). Because Helen used all of her LTC benefits, her TLC policy paid a residual death benefit of $23,829 upon her death.

Helen never had a long term care event.

Because Helen did not need LTC benefits, she was able to leave a $238,292 death benefit to her husband as her beneficiary.

Helen changed her mind.

Five years after purchasing TLC, Helen wanted to invest in a new business. She discontinued the TLC policy and used the $100,000 to get started. Because she selected the optional Return of Premium Rider at purchase and had not taken loans, partial withdrawals or filed a claim, she received her full initial premium back without penalty. Of course, Helen must pay any taxes that are due.

Helen used some of her long term care benefit.

Helen had an LTC event and used $100,000 of her benefit reducing her specified amount to $138,292. Since she had not exhausted her specified amount to pay for LTC expenses, $138,292 was left to her husband as her beneficiary.

Maximizing Helen's Premium

Helen's initial premium is leveraged for greater value for long term care benefits if she needs them, or a tax-free death benefit for her beneficiaries if she never needs care.

This is how TLC looks for Helen, based on her individual factors: 60 year-old female in good health, with a couples discount on LTC charges. Her policy values have been calculated on a 4.0% interest crediting rate.

TLC Leverage Table

	Age
	50	55	60	65	70
	Leverage Factor
Female	10x	8x	7x	6x	5x
Male	9x	8x	7x	5x	4x

This table illustrates the amount of leverage you would have for total long term care benefits based on your age when you purchase the policy. The leverage amount in the table above is calculated using a 4.0% interest crediting rate and includes a couples discount. These levels are based on clients with preferred health.
